

Kiel University intends to attract more qualified women for professorships.

The Faculty of Mathematics and Natural Sciences at Kiel University, Germany, invites applications for the following position to be filled as soon as possible:

Professorship (W2) in Nanooptics

at the Institute of Experimental and Applied Physics.

Candidates should be internationally recognized in the field of nanooptics. The successful candidate will develop optical spectroscopies and microscopies (THz to UV/VIS) and use them for investigations of nanoscale structures, low-dimensional systems, solids, or liquid-solid interfaces. An active participation in collaborative projects at Kiel University is desirable.

Full participation in the experimental physics education (BSc and MSc levels) and the capability to teach in German (after 3 years) and English are expected. Teaching duties are based on the latest State Regulations for Universities (LVVO) of the State of Schleswig-Holstein. The teaching load currently is 9 hours per term week.

The position is opened with respect to Art. § 61 and § 63, Section 1 of the Higher Education Act of the State of Schleswig-Holstein. General information on the application procedure can be found at www.berufungen.uni-kiel.de.

Kiel University wishes to increase the number of female scientists in faculty positions and encourages applications of qualified women. Female applicants will be given priority if their qualifications and achievements are equal to those of male applicants.

Applications from scientists with disabilities will be given priority in case of equal qualifications. We explicitly encourage candidates with a migration background to apply. Please refrain from submitting photographs.

Applications should be written in English and include a curriculum vitae, copies of academic certificates, a list of publications, a list of externally funded projects, information on teaching experience, and a future research strategy. Please provide private and business addresses as well as telephone numbers. The application should be submitted as a single pdf document (smaller than 20 MB) by January 31, 2018 to The Dean, Faculty of Mathematics and Natural Sciences, Kiel University, D-24089 Kiel, Germany, (berufungen@mnf.uni-kiel.de).